

To the editor, in response to the final remarks on "Obliquity forcing of low-latitude climate" on September 28th 2015:

We have added the link to the reference of Rachmayani et al 2015. Furthermore we have improved the readability of the axis labels of figures 4, 5 and 8. The spurious vertical lines are unfortunately not removed - I do not know why they appear or how to remove them. (it has something to do with changing the shade key in Ferret, but other colleagues also did not understand why the lines are there).

best wishes, on behalf of all co-authors,
Joyce Bosmans
