Dear authors,

We have received three review comments. Because I do not have access to the earlier version of the manuscript that was submitted to J. of Climate, I cannot assess the revisions which may have been implemented in between the two manuscript versions, one point raised by reviewer 3. I observe that all reviewers have raised the key point of model evaluation, as well as questions with respect to the size of the ensemble and the composite methodology. I encourage the authors to address these major issues in their response and in a potential revised version of their work. If they provide new analyses that support their response, and a revised manuscript which addresses in depth these issues, it will be circulated to the reviewers for another review round.

Sincerely, Valerie Masson-Delmotte.
