

Interactive comment on “Glacier response to North Atlantic climate variability during the Holocene” by N. L. Balasacio et al.

A. Carlson

acarlson@coas.oregonstate.edu

Received and published: 8 June 2015

Dear Balasacio et al., I am intrigued by your study and would like to point you to another record of late Holocene glacier change (and summary of southern Greenland records) that was presented in Winsor et al. (2014, QSR). This study found a glacier advance in southern Greenland ending at ~ 1.6 ka, similar in timing to your advance documented in Kulusuk.

Please also note the supplement to this comment:

<http://www.clim-past-discuss.net/11/C564/2015/cpd-11-C564-2015-supplement.pdf>

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 11, 2009, 2015.

C564