

Interactive comment on “Eliminating the “divergence problem” at Alaska’s northern treeline” by M. Wilmking and J. Singh

J. Guiot

guiot@cerege.fr

Received and published: 17 August 2008

The review of rev#2 confirms the view of rev#1 and my own comments posted 30th July. This paper contains too many problems and does not solve really the divergence problem in Alaska. The methodology proposed is not clearly explained and is not acceptable as well from an ecological than a statistical point of view. We are not recommending preparation of a new version for CP.

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 4, 741, 2008.

Full Screen / Esc

Printer-friendly Version

Interactive Discussion

Discussion Paper

