Dear authors as you can see in both reviews, your paper needs substantial corrections to be acceptable for CP. There is a problem of english, but not only. Please rewrite the paper to make it clearer as requested by rev#1. We expect that you was more precise in the discussion of $\delta^{13}C$, some explanations on what has been validated. Please explain your changes in a joined letter and/or present arguments when you disagree. Even if you rewrite completely the paper, we need to know precisely the major changes you did. Best regards JG
