

Figure 1: Ocean ventilation experiments: Quasi-linear relation between simulated atmospheric CO₂ and the efficiency of the soft-tissue pump P* (Ito and Follows (2005)) for the ventilation states with active NADW formation (circles). The linear relation is perturbed when NADW formation is shutdown in response to strongly reduced windstress in the Southern Ocean (rectangles).