

Interactive comment on “Terminations VI and VIII (~ 530 and ~ 720 kyr BP) tell us the importance of obliquity and precession in the triggering of deglaciations” by F. Parrenin and D. Paillard

J. C. Hargreaves

jules@jamstec.go.jp

Received and published: 10 August 2012

The cycle from Termination 3 to Termination 2 is rather inconvincing as a 100kyr cycle. It looks more like two higher frequency cycles than one long cycle. Can your analysis shed any light on why this might be?

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 8, 3143, 2012.