

Interactive comment on “A model-data comparison of the Holocene global sea surface temperature evolution” by G. Lohmann et al.

T. Oldberg

terry@knowledgetothemax.com

Received and published: 16 April 2012

The models that are under consideration make no predictions; they make "projections." A consequence is for the claims that are made by these models to be non-falsifiable thus lying outside science. Though the adequacy of these models is the topic of the paper, this is not a scientific question.

---

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 8, 1005, 2012.

C273