

Interactive comment on “Sources and transport of dust to East Antarctica: new insights from high-resolution terrestrial and marine aerosol records from the Talos Dome ice core” by S. Schüpbach et al.

S. Sneed (Referee)

sharon.sneed@maine.edu

Received and published: 12 August 2013

The data presented in this article are a valuable addition to the Southern Hemisphere climate system. Are there any indications of what changes could have occurred in South America to produce the observed changes in Ca flux?

---

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 9, 3321, 2013.