Dear authors,

We have now received comments of your paper from two reviewers. Both agree that your paper is a good contribution on taphonomic effects on climate reconstructions from pollen. I have then the pleasure to announce you that your paper can be accepted after minor corrections. We expect now that you reply to these referees and submit a new version with a cover letter where you explain what changes you did to the previous according to the comments or eventually why you disagree with some of them.

With my best regards

Joel Guiot
