We acknowledge the positive review of James Scourse and thank him for all the good suggestions and perspectives his review brings to our study. All the comments done have been considered for the revision but as some details and complements will not be directly included in the revised manuscript, we compiled a comment (see attached pdf file) related to specific elements which may nurture the interactive discussion at the best. Significant new illustrations presented in this pdf document (link below) will be integrated in the revised manuscript.

Please also note the supplement to this comment:
