

We are submitting here a revised version of the manuscript « An improved North-South synchronization of ice core records around the 41 kyr beryllium-10 peak ». The point by point replies to the comments of the referees that were given in our previous responses have been implemented and are highlighted in the revised manuscript. We are also uploading a separate file with the ^{10}Be data to be included as Supplementary Material, as requested.