Dear authors,

Both reviewers posted their review of your paper. As we are still in the discussion phase, I invite you to post comments about these reviews to engage some discussion between them and yourselves. This is the opportunity that Climate of the Past offers authors during this phase and I would be glad if you were replying the main points addressed by the reviewers. Of course by the end of the review process, I will ask you a more complete reply to the various points raised by the reviewers.
