

Dear Dr Menviel,

Thank you for your time looking over our revised manuscript. We accept that our original revisions do not fully address the reviewers' and your comments. We hope that you will agree with us that the new version of the manuscript does resolve them.

In summary, this version has substantially reduced the content in Section 4. This has involved removing the bottom two paddles of figure 5 and only providing figure 6 as supplementary information. This means that Section 4 now has no numbered subsections. We've also gone through and made a collection of edits to improve the readability of the piece, especially the description of Fig. 1. These edits address all of the minor issues that you kindly pointed out, amongst several others.

Yours,

Zhiyi Jiang and Chris Brierley.